"Kim Zeglinski does more than put on a great Fringe show. She reminds you why we go to plays in the first place. It's to connect, to find comfort, to laugh and to cry. Artists teach you life. You'll never master the journey, but when you've been helped forward a step, you know it. And that's what divides a piece of work from a work of genius."

★★★★★ The Star Phoenix (2018)

"MIDDLEhood...is a connective roller coaster of a middle-aged woman's life. The play is peppered with self-deprecating humour and real-life heartache. There is a true strength and heart to this production." ★★★★★ Grid City Magazine (2017)

"...this clever writer-producer-performer, who brought Stretchmarks and Breast Friends to the (Winnipeg) Fringe in previous years, finds both lots to say and truly original ways to say it in this one-hour, one-woman, high-energy show."

★★★★★ ½ Winnipeg Free Press (2014)
